'Top secret' MUDA meeting held behind closed doors

First meeting in 6 months; day-long meet to discuss more than 350 subjects

Deputy Commissioner K.V. Rajendra (right), who is also the MUDA Chairman, presided over the MUDA meeting this morning. MUDA Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar (left), MLAs, MLCs and other MUDA members are seen.

Mysuru, Dec. 16 (RK&BCT)- The last Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) general meeting was held at the MUDA meeting hall on June 22, 2022 and after that no meeting was held as the urban development body did not have a Chairman. As a result, several pro-people projects were kept pending.

With the State Government still deliberating on who will become the next MUDA Chairman in the wake of many competitors for the plum post, Deputy Commissioner K.V. Rajendra, who is the head of MUDA in the absence of the Chairman, chaired a general meeting this morning. It is for the first time in the recent past that a DC is chairing a MUDA meeting that is usually presided over by a Government nominated Chairman.

However, today's MUDA meeting was not open for the media and was held behind closed doors. The door was kept locked and a board was hung on its front indicating that no one was allowed inside as the meeting proceedings were on.

Usually, media is allowed inside such meetings and in the past MUDA meetings, there was a presence of media persons. But this time, only photographers were allowed to click pictures and they were soon asked to leave the place.

Security personnel were posted at the entrance of the meeting hall to allow only members, officials and elected representatives inside.

Bolas: The One Stop Factory Outlet for Dry Fruits

Mysuru, Dec. 16 - The Bolas Group of Companies is well-known in the international market for the past seven decades in the industry of cashews and other dry fruits and nuts.

Coastal Karnataka-based Bolas Group is managing five stores across Mysuru under "Bolas The Factory Outlet."

Besides exporting cashews to more than 35 countries, it imports dry fruits and nuts from more than 40 countries and distributes them across India. For this, it has received several awards including the 'Niryata Shri' award from the President of India.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Bola Rajesh Kamath, one of the Directors of the company said, "Most people have a misconception that dry fruits are very expensive. We want to change this perception by offering high quality products at affordable prices at our factory outlets. We have designed our outlets to provide an international quality shopping experience."

"Apart from dry fruits and nuts, seeds, dried berries, edible oil, honey, sweets and nut mixes are available. Customers can also order the products online," he added.

Continuing, he said, "To ensure prices are competitive in the store, we have invested hugely on infrastructure, import directly into Mangaluru Port, process at the state-of-the-art facility in Mangaluru and supply to the store, thus reducing the long supply chain and transit time. This also ensures the product is fresh when delivered to customers."

One of India's largest processors of nuts and dry fruits, this Company is employing thousands of local people, amongst whom more than 75 percent are women employees.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Now that the year 2022 is coming to a close and a New Year is round the corner, everyone tends to ask, "What did you achieve this year? How many boxes did you tick off? What would you consider your successes?" Every year-end is marked by reviews of successes followed by gloating, or a shameful confession of failures, followed by regret.

What if we simply turned this upside down and create an alternative year-end assessment that is more realistic, practical and in many ways, inspiring? Instead of inflating what we consider as successes and achievements, look beneath the iceberg at the larger body of so-called failures and non-achievements that we tend to hide.

Such an alternative assessment would help us see beyond what we 'failed to achieve'. For instance, looking at how you were able to field a challenge and deal with it despite hurdles — even though you could not really overcome that challenge — will reveal pointers as to what not to do for better results the next time.

What were the strengths gained from disappointing performances? Who became part of your support system and who was there, lending a shoulder for you to rest your weary head on? How many of your friends and colleagues continued to have faith in your capabilities and potential despite your not doing so well overall, in the year gone past?

Embracing all the accompaniments of so-called failures is what helps shape our personality and attitude, our relationships and priorities. This is what puts things in perspective, reveals ground realities and indicates that there is nothing more powerful than the faith you have in your own self and the faith your loved ones have in you. — Narayani Ganesh in The Times of India

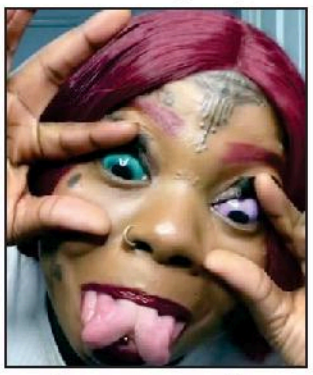
The most shredded man in the world

Vienna: Helmut Strebl is an Austrian body-builder and fitness model who is widely regarded as the most shredded man in the world because of his incredibly well-defined muscles.

The name Helmut Strebl is famous as "the most shredded man in the world". It's an unofficial title, but looking at photos of his amazing human specimen, it's hard to imagine anyone successfully challenging him for it. The guy is a walking anatomy model, with muscles so well-defined that you can practically see every fibre contracting under his skin.

Photos of Helmut Strebl's incredibly shredded body have been doing the rounds online for at least five years now, regularly going viral on social media platforms. The man is 54 years old now and no longer in his prime physical shape, but he still looks better than 99.9% of men and is still active in the fitness community.

Woman going blind after tattooing eyes



Belfast: A 32-year-old woman from Belfast, Ireland is apparently going blind after tattooing her eyeballs blue and purple, despite the warning of her 7-year-old daughter.

Anaya Peterson, a young law student and fan of body modification influencer Amber Luke, who famously went blind for three weeks after tattooing the white of her eyeballs a bright blue, is slowly going blind after following in the footsteps of her idol. The mother-of-five was apparently in awe of Luke's unique look and decided to have her own eyeballs tattooed in 2020, despite the warning of her 7-year-old daughter who asked her what would happen if she went blind.

Make one fire tender must at all exhibition venues

Sir,

This refers to the news item in SOM dated Dec. 15 about the fire accident that occurred at Dasara Exhibition venue. It is also stated in the report that fire tenders were called from the Saraswathipuram Fire Station to douse the fire.

As a learning from this, it is suggested as follows: One fire tender must be placed mandatorily at all exhibition venues (either inside or outside close to the main entrance) to attend immediately to such eventualities.

Such arrangements can save a lot of precious lives and valuable goods. The costs related to making available the fire tender at exhibitions can be charged to organisers or firms.

Secondly, it should be made compulsory for every stall to have their own small and easily carriable fire extinguishers to use at emergencies in their stalls and this condition must be mentioned in the licence agreements. Thirdly, all exhibitions must have pathways for fire tenders to come in and fire exits shall be clearly visible to the public at all strategic points to enable them to come out quickly.

Hope the District Administration will take more precautionary steps immediately before permissions are given for expos in the coming days.

State's 8 Universities to survey living conditions of Kannadigas in border areas

Mysuru, Dec.16 (MTY&TRR)- Chairman of Karnataka Border Area Development Authority Dr. C. Somashekar has said that it has been decided to conduct a study and survey about the living conditions of the people at 63 taluks in the border areas.

"The job of conducting the survey has been assigned to the eight Universities of the State," he added.

Disclosing this at a progress review meeting of Mysuru District border taluks of H.D. Kote and Saragur held at Deputy Commissioner (DC)'s Office auditorium on Tuesday, Dr. Somashekar said that it has become inevitable to study the economic, social, cultural, educational and linguistic issues of the Kannadigas living in the border areas.

He said that there are 980 villages in 63 taluks of 19 districts which are in the border areas of Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Kerala and Goa. "Since it is necessary to ensure the total development of Kannadigas living in border areas, the Authority has decided to carry out surveys through eight Universities of the State and get reports from them so that needed action can be initiated," he said.

"Some buildings have been constructed in the border areas through Zilla Panchayats under MNERGA scheme. A scientific study about the economic, educational and cultural developments needed in the border areas is being carried out. Priority is being given to the cultural and other practices of the border areas. Development should not be limited to just construction of roads and drainage systems, authorities should create cultural fund in Gram Panchayat budget and encourage local culture to prosper, which will help the people of the border areas," opined Dr. Somashekar.

"Four Gram Panchayats of Saragur and H.D.Kote taluks of Mysuru district have been a given grant of Rs.1.3 crore of which Rs.80 lakh has been used. People seeking employment are being given jobs. More grants will be given after receiving the survey report," he said.

Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra, Zilla Panchayat CEO B.R. Poornima, Authority Secretary Prakash, Deputy Divisional Officer Kamalabai, Social Welfare Department Joint Director Malati, Women and Child Development Department Deputy Director Basavaraju and other officials of various departments were present at the meeting.

Prof. Rangappa wants more Govt. funding for Research

Mysuru, Dec. 16 (RKB&DM)- Prof. K.S. Rangappa, former Vice-Chancellor of University of Mysore (UoM) and KSOU said that the Government should give equal priority for teaching and research, as the two should go along together for achieving success.

He was speaking after inaugurating a workshop on the topic "Preventing Plagiarism: The first step towards Qualitative Research" organised jointly by CSIR-UGC NET Training Centre, IQAC and University of Mysore Researchers Association at EMRC auditorium in Manasagangothri campus here recently.

Regretting that Government funding for University research is on the downslide, Prof. Rangappa observed that Fellowships are becoming far lesser as compared to the earlier days. This has resulted in researchers losing interest, he said adding that the Government should take note of this and take measures for more funding.

Maintaining that Mysore Varsity has earned a name for itself because of research and researchers, he bemoaned that of late, the number of those entering the field of research is decreasing constantly and as such there is dearth of quality thesis. He wanted the Government to give equal importance to State Universities as it does for IIM and IISc.

Contending that such countries which give importance for Research and Development (R&D) will become superpowers, Prof. Rangappa cited the example of Japan and China, which have a strong R & D base.

Expressing disappointment over rampant plagiarism in research papers, Prof. Rangappa said that, however, plagiarism can be easily tracked with the help of a specially developed software. Arguing that it is not easy to have research papers published in foreign Journals, he said that researchers should be highly qualitative in their work. Wanting the UGC to allow publication of theses, he said that this will help in curbing plagiarism.

UoM Acting Vice-Chancellor Prof. H. Rajashekar presided.

IQAC Director Prof. K.N. Amrutesh, Prof. K.R. Shivanna, Prof. Muzaffar Assadi, Prof. H.T. Basavarajappa, Prof. T.R. Maruti, Prof. N. Madialagan, Prof. B. Shankar and others were present.

Separate Ministry needed to solve problems of Kannadigas in border areas: Raghu Kautilya

New Delhi, Dec. 16 (TRR) - Mysore Paints and Varnish Limited Chairman R. Raghu Kautilya has said that a separate Ministry is needed to solve the problems that are being faced by the Kannadigas living in border areas.

He was speaking at the Cultural Festival of Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Kodagu districts, organised by Delhi Karnataka Sangha, which is celebrating its Amrita Mahotsava, at New Delhi, recently.

"The Kannadigas living in border areas are facing many serious problems. Because of this, Border Area Development Authority is unable to respond to their problems properly. Hence, a separate Ministry is needed in this connection," he added.

Observing that compared to other States like Tamil Nadu, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana, the love for the mother-tongue is less in Karnataka, Raghu regretted that Kannadigas love their caste more than their mother-tongue. Those Kannadigas who live outside Karnataka should love Kannada more than their caste and live as members of one family, he suggested.

"Housing Boards and Urban Development bodies should reserve a portion of the sites for Kannadigas living outside Karnataka, so that they can come and settle down again in the State. Similarly, reservations for jobs to the deserving children of such Kannadigas should also be provided," he said and added that apart from Vidyavardhaka Sangha and Kannada Sahitya Parishat, Delhi Karnataka Sangha has completed 75 years, which is a matter of pride.

Former Minister H.M. Revanna, MLC A.H. Vishwanath, Historian Dharmendra Kumar, Delhi Karnataka Sangha President Nagaraj, General Secretary Renukumar and others were present. Artistes from Mysuru region presented various art forms including folk songs and dance which enthralled the Delhi Kannadiagas.

Mysuru, Dec. 16 (MK&BCT)- The Bahuroopi National Theatre Festival with the theme of Indianness came to a close at Rangayana last evening with the artistes, audience and Rangayana staff chanting "Bharat Mata Ki Jai" and they vowed to uphold the spirit of nationalism in the wake of many adversities including external and internal threats.

The Theatre Festival began on Dec. 8 and was held with much fanfare and the theme of Indianness resonated in all aspects, be it dramas, debates, musical performances, competitions, sale of books, clothes and even food. The last day of the festival exhibited on various stages focussed on human life, its frailty and the ups and downs of life.

Mayabazar at Kalamandira

The last evening's highlight was Telugu mythological drama 'Mayabazar' staged at Kalamandira by troupe Sri Venkateshwara Surabhi Theatre, Telangana. Malladi Venkatakrishna Sharma is the playwright and it was directed by Surabhi Jayachandra Varma

'Mayabazar', also called 'Sasirekha Parinayam', is based on the celebrated episode in the Mahabharata where Arjuna's son Abhimanyu falls in love with Balarama's daughter Sasirekha. Balarama is against the marriage as Abhimanyu doesn't have any kingdom to inherit and moreover since his father is in exile.

Krishna advises Abhimanyu to approach Bheema's son Ghatotkacha for help. Ghatotkacha, with his magical powers, transforms himself into Sasirekha, and starts staying in the kingdom as the original goes romancing Abhimanyu.

Abhimanyu in due course marries Sasirekha with Krishna's blessings. Unaware of all this, Balarama arranges his daughter's marriage with Duryodhana's son. But the bride appears as a ghost to the groom, and he runs away in fear.

Angered by this, Balarama vows to kill Abhimanyu, but Krishna intervenes and pacifies him. The play swayed the audience with its powerful performance.

Avani at Sampath Rangamandira

Kannada play 'Avani' was performed at Sampath Rangamandira (Kiru Rangamandira) by Bengaluru-based troupe Samanvitha. K.V. Radhakrishna is the playwright and was directed by Akshata Mayasandra.

The play focussed on Indian lifestyle, its theme and conveyed the message of harmony in day-to-day life. Avani means earth, earth symbolises birth and regeneration. This newness is compared to women and the female characters of Indian mythology like Seetha, Droupadi, Damayanti, Amba, Shakuntala and Madhavi were portrayed on stage.

The theme, characters, overall messaging were appreciated by the audience and the play was accorded loud applause.

Chaayachitam Maayachitram at Bhoomigeeta

Malayalam play 'Chaayachitram Maayachitram' was performed at Bhoomigeeta by Ernakulam-based Lokadharmi. It was directed by Dr. Chandradasan and Dr. Jebin Jesmus is the playwright.

The play deals with emotional hurdles and unfolds through an intensely emotional conversation between a painter and a stunningly beautiful model who walks into his studio.

The characters of the play uniquely brought before the audience the need to recognise and feel the identity of the woman beyond her external beauty.

Through the stories of Medusa and Lilith, the heroine explains to the painter the eagerness shown by this society to isolate women who take extreme positions against male supremacy and physical superiority. At the end of the play, the heroine breaks all the shackles of male supremacy and loosens her hair like waves according to her will, literally amazes the audience. The overall message of the play is that women are not consumables in front of humanity and the politics of female existence is not destitution and despair. It exposed the political nuances of existence.

Hold Mysuru Winter Festival in January, demand hoteliers

Sankranti season best suited to avoid year-end traffic snarls and to provide better hospitality

Mysuru, Dec. 16 (RKB&KS)- The Mysuru Hotel Owners Association and Hotel Owners' Association Charitable Trust have urged the authorities to hold the proposed Mysuru Winter Festival during Sankranti in January instead of Christmas season in December.

Addressing a press conference at Pathrakarthara Bhavan here this morning, Hotel Owners Association President C. Narayanagowda said that many multinational companies and schools declare holidays in December for Christmas and New Year and hence there will be heavy inflow of tourists to the city.

Holding the Winter Festival during this time would result in additional tourist inflow which would result in traffic jams and also hotels cannot cater to the needs of many tourists and as such, tourists return disappointed.

Hence it is advisable to hold Winter Festival in the first week of January during Sankranti festival so that tourists can participate in the festival which would help hotels provide them the desired accommodations and take care of their needs, he added.

The Winter Festival in January will also help in staggering the tourist flow and will help the industry that has just faced the devastating COVID pandemic, Narayanagowda reasoned.

"Tourists anyway come to Mysuru during the end of the year and if the Winter Festival is conducted at the same time, it will lead to extra rush and there would be traffic problems and the hospitality will be inadequate," he claimed.

Narayanagowda also urged the authorities to hold a meeting pertaining to the Winter Festival by calling tourism stakeholders such as hoteliers, tour and travel agents, a system that was followed in the earlier years. A memorandum has been submitted to the Mysuru District Minister S.T. Somashekar and Deputy Commissioner Dr. K.V. Rajendra in this regard, he added.

Answering a question, Narayanagowda said that the night traffic ban in Bandipur Tiger Reserve must be enforced from 6 pm to 6 am instead of 9 pm to 6 am so that road kill could be controlled. Association Hon. Secretary A.R. Ravindra Bhat, Charitable Trust President Subramanya Tantri, office-bearers Mahesh Kamath and K. Bhaskar Shetty were present.

All cables in city to go underground

Three-month deadline to clear overhead wires; Penalty of Rs. 150 to regularise every metre of overhead cable

Mayor Shivakumar chairing the MCC Council meeting at Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar Hall yesterday in the presence of Deputy Mayor Dr. G. Roopa and MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy.

Mysuru, Dec. 16 (SBD&BCT)- To give the Heritage City thoroughfares a cleaner, safe and better look, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has given a three-month deadline for laying underground cables, after clearing all the overhead wires. This includes electricity wires, television, telephone and internet cables.

The MCC has been planning to get underground cables for power transmission and all other services like telephone, TV and the internet. Underground cables are better protected against extreme weather conditions than the overhead lines. These cables are installed using ducts, where installers obtain just one permit so they only have to dig once and then pull the cable inside.

The issue was discussed in detail at the MCC Council meeting held last evening at Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar Hall under the chairmanship of Mayor Shivakumar in the presence of Deputy Mayor Dr. G. Roopa and MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy.

Applications before Jan. 15

While the Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) has already initiated underground cabling works, it was decided at the meeting that all cable companies must submit the applications to the MCC before Jan. 15 and convert their overhead cables to underground cables.

The Council has decided to charge a one-time fine of Rs. 150 for every metre of overhead cable already installed to regularise it. Besides, any company installing any cable in future, will have to pay an annual fee of Rs. 50 per metre. The matter has been submitted for approval, announced MCC Commissioner.

While Commissioner Lakshmikantha Reddy said that if the matter is approved, all overhead cables would be regularised after penalty or else they would be cleared without notice.

Three-month deadline

The announcement led to heated debate between the ruling and opposition parties. While some Corporators supported the move as it will increase the beauty of the city and will also avoid dangers from dangling cables, others said that if all the unauthorised cables are removed, residents and students will be put into a lot of inconvenience.

Intervening in the discussion, Mayor Shivakumar agreed to the suggestion that if overhead cables are cleared, it will inconvenience the students and the public. "This is the reason why a three-month deadline has been issued. Everyone should compulsorily change overhead cables to underground cables, he said.

The meeting's attention was drawn to the proliferation of unauthorised poles by private entities for drawing cables. Corporators said that there were as many as 3,000 illegal poles that had to be removed.

Fee for HDD trench

The meeting also decided to charge Rs. 10,000 per trench to Rs. 60,000 per km (1.5x1.5 size trenches — 6 per kilometre) for laying cable through HDD (Horizontal Directional Drilling). Till now, there was no charge levied by the MCC for this. With the move to levy a fee, the MCC hopes to increase its revenue.

In the wake of many multi-storeyed buildings, commercial complexes and industries coming up, it is not possible to meet the drinking water demands and provide sewage facilities. Hence it was decided in the meeting to revise the cost on a pro-rata basis from the owner of the respective building to cover the costs.

Functioning of CESC comes under radar

The functioning of Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) within the city limits came in for severe criticism during the MCC meeting yesterday when Mayor Shivakumar said that some of the civic works being undertaken by the MCC were being delayed and disturbed due to lack of coordination and application of mind by the CESC.

"Our workers are facing problems as the CESC has taken up underground power cabling without any markers of its presence. Our engineers and workers stumble upon CESC cables while laying UGD pipes and as the cables get cut, the power is disconnected. We have to face the public wrath," the Mayor said.

When the Mayor looked at the CESC representative in the meeting, it was discovered that CESC had sent an Assistant Executive Engineer. As the officer was fumbling for answers, the Mayor took exception to the CESC move to send a junior staff member to the meeting who is not in a position to either answer the questions nor give any explanations.

The Mayor directed the CESC to send officers who are in the ranks of Superintendent Engineer and above henceforth to the MCC Council meetings. He later directed the MCC Commissioner to convene a separate meeting with the CESC Managing Director to sort out the issues.

Booktalk

Second book of Sai Deepak's Bharat Trilogy launched

Re-Discovering Bharat

HH Sri Srikantadatta Narasimharaja Wadiyar Foundation has organised an insightful talk and interaction session on the book 'India, Bharat and Pakistan: The Constitutional Journey of a Sandwiched Civilisation' by its author J. Sai Deepak, who is also a Supreme Court Advocate, at Vijnana Bhavan in Manasagangothri, Mysuru, on Dec. 17 at 5 pm. Here we publish a book review by R. Chandra Prakash. — Ed

By R. Chandra Prakash

Sai Deepak's second book of the trilogy "India, Bharat and Pakistan: The Constitutional Journey of a Sandwiched Civilisation" is a detailed account of the 1905-1924 tumultuous period, during which 'a partnership of convenience between European and Middle Eastern colonialities' inflicted irreparable damage on Indic Civilisation. This book elaborates on how this period has also cast a politico-legal dye, with deep fault lines engraved in it, for the post Independence Constitution. He had earlier published "India that is Bharat" which discussed Coloniality, Civilisation and Constitution.

Chandra Prakash

The Determining period: 1905-1924

This period was of great socio-political upheavals in the annals of freedom struggle. To name some of them: Partition of Bengal in 1905, Establishment of Muslim League in 1906, Separate Electorates in 1909, Re-unification of Bengal in 1911, Outbreak of I WW in 1914, the Boer War, Lucknow Pact of 1916 and the Communal Riots in Malegaon, Malabar, Gulbarga, Kohat, Jallianwala Bagh Massacre in 1919, Launch of Khilafat Movement, Minto-Morley Reforms Report and the Enactment of Government of India Act 1919, Arrival of Gandhi and the Turmoil in the Congress.

It is Sai Deepak's view that "... unless the period between 1905 and 1924 is made sense of ..., the assessment of the combined impact of European and Middle Eastern colonialities ... on the framing of the Constitution of 1950 would be truncated and historically uninformed."

The author desires that the "misplaced religiosity towards the document (that is, Constitution) is replaced with sense of proportion, perspective and purpose." He, however, does not explain what those 'religiosities' are in the Constitution.

Colonial Clouds over Indic Civilisation

Wahhabi Movement arrived in India as early as in 1800 and continued to have a strong Indian base. The advent of European, more particularly the British, rule not only ended this long period of Islamic political dominance but also created a new socio-political dynamic in Bharat. And the 1857 Mutiny became a turning point in the British colonial control over India.

Congress — Its Colonial Roots and "Reforms" Blueprints

It is noteworthy that in 1855 Allan Octavian Hume founded the Indian National Union "in full consultations with the Viceroy." It later became Indian National Congress. Its specific objective was to provide a platform for civic and political dialogue among the 'educated Indians' — interpreters between the British and the millions whom the British governed. Freedom from the British rule was never founding objective of the then Indian National Congress.

The author subscribes to the thought that Congress' colonial roots and policies had deep negative impact on Indic Civilisational Values of Bharat. Congress' emphasis on western education bereft of Indic Values was in stark contrast with the Islamic Reformers like Syed Ahmed Khan, identified as a British loyalist.

This development led to the Hindus moving away from their roots at a time when the Islamic reformist movements sought to move closer to the practice of early Islam. Thus, author feels that the Congress helped in further strengthening the roots of Middle Eastern coloniality in Bharat.

Gandhi and Swaraj

With the honorific 'Mahatma', Gandhi had acquired an unchallengeable socio-political position and an aura which belittled even the senior stalwarts in Congress. Gandhi's politico-socio-psychological manipulations within the Congress led to further splintering into sub-groups representing different approaches to country's future. His deeply entrenched belief in Hindu-Muslim unity, even in the face of stark realities in front of him ... played diabolic role in the happenings during 1905-1924.

By hoping to secure Swaraj with the pan-Islamism, "Gandhi had struck a Faustian bargain, the ultimate price being paid with the blood of millions of people and dismemberment of Indic civilisation's only sacred geography — Bharat."

Defying Myths

This book defies three myths which have entered into our political discourse.

The first myth: That the Wahhabis supported Sepoy Mutiny in 1857.

Second myth: The British sowed the seeds of the idea of Pakistan with the partition of Bengal in 1905 on religious lines.

Third myth: Jinnah was the architect of Two-Nation Theory.

Author Sai Deepak states that the Two-Nation Theory is the outcome of inherent separatist tendency of Middle Eastern consciousness, starting from Syed Ahmed Sirhindi under Mughal emperor Akbar to Syed Ahmed Khan of Aligarh.

Author J. Sai Deepak

Dormant Socio-Political Volcanoes

The author provides very detailed accounts of Malegoan, Malabar, Gulbarga and Kohat communal riots during 1905-1924 with authentic multiple source references. This account bares not only the discriminatory approaches by the Congress and more particularly Gandhi, but also the inbuilt socio-political fears within the communities which act as dormant volcanoes.

Era of Re-discover of Bharat

India is celebrating its seventy-fifth year of Independence as the world's largest successful democracy. At a time when the credit for this momentous achievement ought to have been attributed to the maturation of its political system, it is largely ascribed to our Constitution, Judiciary and the deliberations in the Constitutional Assembly.

Sai Deepak is of strong opinion that the Bharatiya mind is buried deep under three layers of coloniality — European, Middle Eastern and Nehruvian Marxist / post-colonial. In his trilogy, he is trying to expose the overall historical impact of these coloniality on our Constitution, which has led to the deprival of the INDIC VALUES.

Consequently, a country which fundamentally believes in international brotherhood, harmony and peace — Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam — is forced to suffer social disharmony and political chaos. Political developments since 2014 stand testimony to the renaissance of country's innate beliefs.

This book is certainly a product of in-depth research. Presentation with quotations from multiple sources, detailed notes, references, appendices and index authenticate the statements. However, 600-plus pages are indeed a reader's challenge, though an enlightening one■

Alleged sexual harassment by HM

- Girl students lock Head Master in office, thrash him
- Cops arrest accused, register case under POCSO Act

Chinmayananda

Pandavapura/Srirangapatna, Dec. 16- A High School Head Master (HM) was locked in the office room and thrashed with sticks and brooms by the girl students for allegedly harassing them sexually. The villagers, with the help of hostel warden, managed to free the accused HM from the students and handed him over to KRS Police.

The Police, who have arrested the teacher under Prevention of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, produced him before a Court, which remanded him to judicial custody.

The arrested is 52-year-old Chinmayananda, Head Master of the Government High School at Katteri village in Pandavapura taluk and a resident of J.P. Nagar in Mysuru.

It is learnt that the HM used to stay at the school after closing time and used to reportedly harass girl students of RMSA Hostel, which is adjacent to the school. He is accused of calling the girl students to his office room, behave and speak indecently with them and show them obscene videos. He used to threaten them of murdering if they objected to his behaviour and that he would put 'bad character' remark in their Transfer Certificates (TC).

Though the girl students had brought this to the notice of Hostel Warden K.S. Namitha, she was helpless to take action.

On Wednesday at about 8 pm, the HM came to the hostel fully drunk and the girl students, who locked him inside the office room, picked up sticks and brooms and began to thrash him. Assuming that the Hostel Warden may come to the HM's rescue, the students had bolted the door of the warden's room from outside.

The Hostel Warden, who heard the commotion, tried to come out of her room. As the room was bolted from outside, she looked through the window and called the students to open the door. But the students, who told the Warden that it was their problem and she had nothing to do with it, continued to beat the Head Master.

Soon, villagers rushed to the hostel, convinced the students not to take law in their hands and convinced them to open the door. The villagers then got hold of the Head Master and handed him over to KRS Police.

Based on the complaint from Hostel Warden Namitha at about 10.30 pm, KRS Police, who registered a case under POCSO Act, IPC Section 354A, 354D, 506 and 509, arrested the accused and produced him before a Court which remanded him to judicial custody.

Meanwhile, the parents of the students, who assembled in the school premises yesterday morning, staged a protest and demanded the authorities to sack the Head Master.

WORD OF THE DAY

Sandbag

Pronunciation: SAND-bag.
Meaning: When used figuratively, sandbag means "to hit or stun as if with a sandbag," "to criticize or treat unfairly" or "to hide one's true abilities or purpose in order to deceive people, gain advantage."
Origin: When sandbag was first established as a verb in the 1800s, it meant "to bank, stop up, or weight with sandbags," but since then it has taken on several figurative meanings, some more obvious than others. First came the simple (and decidedly unfriendly in application) metaphorical extension: "to hit or stun as if with a sandbag." Less literal uses followed, including "to treat unfairly or harshly" and "to coerce by crude means." By the mid-20th century, sandbag was being used by poker players to describe the act of pretending a strong hand is actually weak, in order to draw other players into raising the bet. This use of sandbag has since evolved to refer to a general strategy of misrepresenting one's intentions or abilities in order to gain some sort of advantage.
Example: "While tentpoles resuscitated movie-going this past summer with pics like 'Top Gun: Maverick,' it's true that more adult-skewing fare is having a much harder time now. Nowhere was this more true than with David O. Russell's 'Amsterdam,' which rivals believed had a shot at opening to $12M-$15M this past weekend. ... What should have been an awards-season play with its originality quickly was sandbagged by critics at 34% on Rotten Tomatoes." — Anthony D'Alessandro

THE ODD WORD

Sapiential

Providing wisdom.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Salad days

Meaning: The phrase refers to a time when a person is at the peak of his abilities.
Origin: The phrase was coined by William Shakespeare in the tragedy 'Antony and Cleopatra' in 1606. In those days the meaning of the phrase was foolish and carelessness behaviour due to lack of experience. However, with modern use the meaning changed, and now it describes a period when a person is at the peak of his abilities.
Example: Mark -"When I was young I went out every night, came back home at 4 in the morning, slept for 3 hours and went to work feeling awesome". Ron-"well those were your salad days. You're too old for that today."
